CODE OF CONDUCT

TUW MFT students must follow and acquaint themselves with the TUW Student Plagiarism policy, TUW Code of Conduct found in the university catalog, and the AAMFT Code of Ethics. Likewise, The TUW MFT program requires students to follow applicable codes of ethics, licensure board statutes and regulations/rules, applicable federal law, state law, and agency codes of conduct in their clinical placement sites. Please review the following summary of the Plagiarism policy, university Code of Conduct, and AAMFT Code of Ethics below:

Plagiarism Policy

Academic Integrity violations will not be tolerated within the program. All students must review the Academic Integrity video during the student orientation where the video places emphasis on Plagiarism.

In addition, each syllabus contains a statement about academic integrity that includes plagiarism. Confirmed cases of suspected plagiarism within the program will follow both the course policies of the instructor and the university's plagiarism policy. Touro University Worldwide is using Copyleaks Plagiarism system within TUW's LMS. The system automatically selects about 30% of all paper submissions and scans students' papers for Plagiarism. Instructors receive a detailed report of the scan results. Instructors can use Copyleaks to assess the authenticity of students' work and may submit any assignment suspected of being plagiarized to Copyleaks.

Plagiarism also includes improperly citing sources which is also an Academic Integrity Policy Violation. As a result of academic integrity violation, the faculty member can assign an unsatisfactory grade that can lead to failure in the course and Academic probation.
