THE ACADEMIC DRESS

*Adapted from the American Council on Education
Historical Overview of the Academic Costume Code and Academic Costume Code*

History

The origins of academic dress date back to the 12th and 13th centuries, when universities were taking form. The ordinary dress of the scholar whether student or teacher, was the dress of a cleric. With few exceptions, the medieval scholar had taken at least minor orders, made certain vows, and perhaps been tonsured. Long gowns were worn and may have been necessary for warmth in unheated buildings. Hoods seem to have served to cover the tonsured head until superseded for that purpose by the skull cap.

A statute of the University of Coimbra in 1321 required that all "Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors" wear gowns. In England, in the second half of the 14th century, the statutes of certain colleges forbade "excess in apparel" and prescribed the wearing of a long gown. In the days of Henry VIII of England, Oxford and Cambridge first began prescribing a definite academic dress and made it a matter of university control even to the extent of its minor details.

The assignment of colors to signify certain faculties was to be a much later development, and one which was to be standardized only in the United States in the late 19th century. White taken from the white fur trimming of the Oxford and Cambridge B.A. hoods was assigned to arts and letters. Red, one of the traditional colors of the church, went to theology. Green, the color of medieval herbs, was adopted for medicine, and olive, because it was so close to green, was given to pharmacy. Golden yellow, standing for the wealth which scientific research has produced, was assigned to the sciences.

European institutions have always had great diversity in their specifications of academic dress and this has been a source of confusion. In contrast, American colleges and universities opted for a definite system that all might follow. A significant contribution to the development of this system was made by Gardner

Cotrell Leonard of Albany, New York. Mr. Leonard designed gowns for his class at Williams College in 1887 and had them made by Cotrell and Leonard, a firm established by his family in Albany, New York. He was greatly interested in the subject and following the publication of an article by him on academic dress in 1893, he was invited to work with an Intercollegiate Commission made up of representatives of leading institutions to establish a suitable system of academic apparel.

TUW Regalia

Touro University Worldwide requires graduates to order their graduation regalia no later than Monday, April 24, 2023 to ensure timely receipt and to prevent additional charges issued by the supplier. All regalia including cap, gown, hood, and honor cords (if applicable) are available through Jostens. Please select the actual year of program completion before proceeding with your purchase to ensure correct year is included on the tassel. It is the sole responsibility of the graduate to obtain appropriate regalia representative of their degree. All graduates are required to wear regalia to participate in the commencement ceremony.

Regalia (cap, gown, tassel, stole, honor cords, etc.) will NOT be made available at the commencement ceremony.

Gowns

Touro University Worldwide gowns are black. The gown for associate and bachelor degrees have pointed sleeves and are designed to be worn closed. The gown for master degrees have an oblong sleeve, opens at the wrist, like the others. The sleeve base hangs down in the traditional manner. The rear part of its oblong shape is square cut, and the front part has an arc cut away. The gown is so designed and supplied with fasteners that it may be worn open or closed. The gown for the doctor's degree has bell-shaped sleeves.

Gowns for the associate, bachelor and master degrees are untrimmed. For the doctor degrees, the gown is faced down the front with black velvet; three bars of velvet are used across the sleeves. These facings and crossbars may be of velvet of the color distinctive of the disciplines to which the degree pertains, thus agreeing in color with the binding or edging of the hood appropriate to the particular doctor's degree in every instance.

For all academic purposes, including trimmings of doctors' gowns and edging of hoods, the colors associated with the different disciplines are as follows:

- Administration: Peacock
- Allied Health, Health Care Administration, Health Science: Sage
- Behavioral Science, Psychology, Technology: Gold
- Business Administration, Business Education, Organizational Management, Finance, Management, Marketing, Project Management: Drab
- Child Development, Special Education: Light Blue
- Conflict Resolution, General Studies, Human Resources: White

- Human Services, Social Behavior, Social Science, Social Work: Citron

- Public Administration: Peacock Blue
- All Doctoral Degrees: Royal Blue

(Note: These are not all inclusive of the colors associated with academic disciplines. Please consider the school associated with your academic program of study when selecting colors from Jostens).

Hoods

Touro University Worldwide hoods are black. Hoods are worn for master and doctor degrees. Only hoods worn for the doctor degree have panels at the sides.

Hoods are lined with navy blue, a light blue chevron and gold accent. The binding or edging of the hood is to be velvet or velveteen. Width of binding or edging is based on degree and the color should be indicative of the subject to which the degree pertains (see above).

Caps

Touro University Worldwide caps are black. Caps for associate, bachelor and master degrees are mortarboards. Only doctor's degree caps are velvet. A long tassel is to be fastened to the middle point of the top of the cap only. The tassel should be black for associate, bachelor and master degree. A tassel of gold for the doctor cap.
